(54) METHOD AND DEVICE FOR MANAGING PERSONAL INFORMATION

(57) Abstract:

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To allow only a specified personal information referencing person designated by a personal information registering person to obtain personal information on-line by outputting personal information corresponding to an enquiry code only when the inputted enquiry code is recognized to be an authentic one.

SOLUTION: A method consists of two steps, that is, an enquiry code issuing step where a personal information registering person 71 utilizes a personal information managing device 10 and a personal information obtaining step where a personal information referencing person utilizes the personal information managing device 10. In the enquiry code issuing step, the enquiry code being an identifying code to be inputted by the personal information referencing person, who wants to obtain personal information concerning a certain personal information registering person, is generated by the indication of the personal information registering person so as to be outputted. In the personal information obtaining step, personal information corresponding to the enquiry code is outputted only when it is recognized that the inputted enquiry code is an authentic one which is generated by the issuing step.
